Numb. 413.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From November 4. to November 11. 1736.

LONDON, July 27.

A TREATY is ſaid to be on the Tapis between the Emperor and ſeveral Princes of the Empire, for proceeding to the Election of a King of the Romans in favour of the Duke of Lorrain whoſe Dutcheſs is with Child beyond all Doubt.

His Imperial Majeſty has propoſed to the Czarina to conclude a Peace with the Turks upon the following Conditions.

I. That the Ruſſians ſhall keep Aſoff.

II. That the Tartars who have ſubmitted to the Czarina, do continue Subject to her.

III. That Crim Tartary be Tributary to Ruſſia.

IV. That the Ruſſian Subjects ſhould be free to trade on the Black Sea.

V. That the Limits between both Empires be ſettled anew. And,

VI. That Ruſſia ſhall be included in the firſt Treaty between the Ottoman Porte and Perſia.

'Tis remarked that the Venetians, ſince the Arrival of an Expreſs from Vienna on the 19th Inſtant are making extraordinary Preparations both by Sea and Land, and give great Encouragement for fitting out Ships againſt the Corſairs of Barbary: From whence it is conjectured that their Deſign is to fall upon the Turks, in Conjunction with the other Chriſtian Powers.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, dated the 10th Inſt. N. S.

We have it reported here, with great Aſſurance, that the French Court is embaraſſed to the utmoſt with the News of the Armament making in all the Mediterranean Ports of Spain, and of the Recruits that are raiſing thro' all the Provinces of that Monarchy. There is hardly a Day but the ſaid Court diſpatches Expreſſes to Vienna, Great-Britain, or to the Court of Madrid, with Letters on this Occaſion. It ſeems as if that proud Nation was not a little Creſt-fallen on the Events it apprehends from the Reſentments of the Spaniſh Court, who, it is affirmed here with much Aſſurance, are diſpoſed in their Turns to play the French as good a Trick as the French played them; and as the Imperial Court ſeems not ſo uneaſy as it might be apprehended on the Spaniards continuing in Tuſcany, and the Armaments of Spain (for it was not true, that the Emperor applied to the maritime Powers on that Subject, to interpoſe their good Offices to procure the Evacuation of that Dutchy) there are thoſe who apprehend, that the Marriage of Don Carlos with the Emperor's youngeſt Daughter, will be a Means to knit together the Imperial and Spaniſh Houſes; and the good Underſtanding there is between the Miniſters of thoſe two Powers at this Place, ſeems to confirm it: Which, if it can be effected, will, no doubt, be deemed a left-handed Blow, for which they did not ſeem to be provided.

It is the leſs Wonder, if a certain Court, finding the Tables likely to be turned upon itſelf, and that it may poſſibly be out-fineſſed, has diſpatched, as 'tis confidently reported, a Perſon of Character to the Perſian Court; and is uſing Means to bring down, if that fails, another Eaſtern Prince upon Kouli Kan, in order to create a Diverſion or procure a Peace, for the Turks, who have often ſtood her in ſuch good ſtead in her Wars againſt the Emperor; and ſome People think ſhe has the more Reaſon for it, as the Emperor can have no Reaſon to love her; and as the Czarina both deſpiſes and hates her.

Nor does the State of Affairs with regard to the New Treaty between the Engliſh and Swediſh Courts diminiſh her Uneaſineſs; for it was on this Occaſion that her active Miniſter at this Place in a Viſit he lately paid to the Envoy of a certain great German Prince of the Proteſtant Perſuaſion, in a melancholy Tone, ſaid, Le Gouvernement des Anglois eſt change, & le du Stockholme, pervertie.

The Maritime Powers have received very ſatisfactory Aſſurances from the Courts of Spain and Naples, concerning the Affairs of Commerce.

'Tis

'Tis obſervable that the Miniſter of a certain Court who was interrogated Yeſterday by certain Deputies, in relation to the Deſign of the preſent great Armament of Spain, anſwered, I will aſſure you, it is not deſigned for Italy, nor for Corſica (calling the Baron of Neuhoff, Nebulo magnus) nor for the North, Weſt, or Eaſt; Gueſs then.

From Cadiz they write, that a new Revolution is likely to happen among the Mooriſh Princes in Africa, in favour of Muly Ally, to the great Mortification of the barbarous and cruel Muly Abdalah, the preſent Emperor, ſeveral thouſands of the Blacks having deſerted him; and it was given out, that the reſt were determined to join in deſtroying him.

Auguſt 5. We hear that the Court of Portugal, having been informed that his Majeſty intended to recall the Fleet under the Command of Sir John Norris at Lisbon, has newly applied to this Court for the Continuation of Sir John Norris there; and it is ſaid that the ſame has been granted, till the Affairs between thoſe two Courts are adjuſted, which it is hoped will be in a little Time.

The King of Sweden has iſſued an Order for keeping his Troops complete all over his Dominions, and for diſcharging the Soldiers who are paſt 54 Years of Age, and taking robuſt young Fellows in their ſtead.

An Aga is hourly expected at Warſaw from Conſtantinople, to compliment King Auguſtus upon his Acceſſion to the Throne and to crave his Friendſhip, or at leaſt his Neutrality, in the preſent poſture of Affairs.

Auguſt 11. The Military Preparations of the Court of Spain, and her Conduct at this Juncture in attempting to oppoſe the general Peace, attract the Eyes of Europe.

The Czarina triumphs at Petersburg for the Succeſs of her Arms in Tartary; and equally Great on all Occaſions, ſeems not to have acquir'd more Reputation in the Glory of her Conqueſts, than in the Magnificence ſhe gives to celebrate them. Count Munich has extended his Victories upwards of a hundred Leagues from Aſoph, and made ſeveral thouſand Priſoners, and laid the whole Country under Contribution. But in the midſt of his Career, her Czarian Majeſty having Intelligence that the Grand Vizier, at the Head of 100,000 Men, had paſſed the Danube, advancing towards Bender, to make an Invaſion into Ukrania, ſhe had diſpatched an Expreſs to that General to return immediately with his Troops, leaving ſtrong Garriſons in the fortified Places, and then to join Count Laſcy in order to give Battle to the Turks: But her Czarian Majeſty has added however to Count Munich's Inſtructions, that in caſe the Grand Vizir ſhould propoſe a Suſpenſion of Arms, he might accept it, to learn if he had any Offers to make with relation to Peace.

Auguſt 17. New Couriers arrive daily at Petersburg, with Accounts of freſh Victories obtained over the Tartars, and Places reduced by her Czarian Majeſty's Arms. Count Munich has poſſeſs'd himſelf of Bacciefary, the Capital City of the Crimea, where the Cham kept his Court, and 'twas not doubted would very ſoon compleat the entire Conqueſt of that Country. The Czarina has acknowledged Thamas Kouli Kan as King of Perſia. Midſt her Triumphs however, that Princeſs has received the diſagreeable News from Moſcow, the Metropolis of her Empire, that a Fire had broke out there, and conſumed 2000 Houſes before it could be extinguiſhed.

Extract of a Letter from Vienna, Aug. 4.

Beſides the Conditions lately mention'd on which the Court of Ruſſia may be prevailed upon to make Peace with the Turk, ſhe likewiſe inſiſts that the Porte ſhall reſtore all the Ruſſian Subjects whom the Turks and Tartars carried at ſeveral Times into Slavery, and likewiſe pay the Czarina ſeven Millions of Rubles, to make good the Damages done by the Tartars to the Territories of Ruſſia. The Emperor's Levies go on with great Succeſs throughout all the Hereditary Countries, and the greateſt Part of the Recruits take the Route of Hungary. Several Letters from Warſaw aſſure us, that King Staniſlaus, through Love to his Country and a ſincere Deſire to ſee Tranquility re-eſtabliſh'd in Poland, wrote during the Diet to ſeveral of the principal Men of the Republick, to let them know that he deſired nothing ſo much as to hear of the happy Succeſs of the Deliberations of that Aſſembly, ſince it was the only Means to ſettle and confirm the Repoſe of his Country. It is added, that ſeveral Letters from that Prince on this Subject having been ſhewn to the Nuncios, they very much contributed to the reconciling and uniting them.

Auguſt 26. The Friars of the Dominican Order, who are Miſſionaries in China, write, that the King of Tonqueen died lately in his Capital; and that he is ſucceeded by his ſeventh Brother, who allows greater Liberty to the Chriſtians than any of his Predeceſſors ever did.

The Venetians continue their Armaments both by Sea and Land againſt the Turks, and have ſent 2000 regular Troops and 1500 Militia to guard the Frontiers of Friuli, while the Imperial Troops paſs through that Province.

Auguſt 31. The Cures performed by the Woman Boneſetter at Epſom, are too many to be enumerated: Her Bandages are extraordinary neat, and her Dexterity in reducing Diſlocations and ſetting of fractured Bones wonderful. She has cured Perſons who have been above twenty Years diſabled, and has given incredible Relief in the moſt difficult Caſes. The Lame came daily to her, and ſhe got a great deal of Money, Perſons of Quality who attended her Operations making her Preſents. Her Father it ſeems is one Mr. Wallin a Boneſetter in Wilts. The Money ſhe got procur'd her a Husband; but he did not ſtay with her above a Fortnight, and then went off with 100 Guineas.

Auguſt

August 17. Last Thurſday Mr. Samuel Lloyd, Mr. King, Mr. Michael Beecher, and ſeveral other young Gentlemen, Merchants of Briſtol, took a Trip to Holms, about ten Leagues from that City, in a new Pleaſure-Sloop built in Ireland, and had with them a ſmall Boat to carry them to and from the Iſland; and, for the better Management of the Sloop, Mr. Samuel Rumley, a noted Pilate at Pill, in much Eſteem and of good Circumſtances, accompany'd them as their Navigator. After regaling themſelves on the Iſland, and coming off to the Sloop, which lay at Anchor a little Diſtance from it, they overſet the Boat cloſe to the Sloop's Side, in endeavouring too eagerly to get on board, and were all ſet a ſwimming; Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Rumley got hold of the Boat, which was ſo light they tilted it on their Heads, by which they loſt their hold and were both unfortunately drown'd; Mr. Lloyd was ſeen ſwimming at ſome Diſtance, but there was no Poſſibility of giving him any Aſſiſtance; he was a Gentleman of a good Family among the Quakers, a large Trader in Wines, and much lamented; the other Perſons had the good Fortune to get on board by the Help of a Rope flung from the Sloop.

Auguſt 23. The various Accounts which we receive concerning the Lord Theodore are very difficult to reconcile: Some ſay he eſcaped out of Corſica in the Habit of a Fiſherman; others make him a Priſoner, and the Scoff and Contempt of his Subjects, while others aſſure us he is as victorious as Cæſar; his Loſſes are exaggerated, as well as his Succeſſes. This, however, is certain, that having vowed the Deſtruction of the Inhabitants of Calenzano, he is now in full March to revenge the Defeat which he received near that Place; and 'tis not doubted but he will ſucceed in his Enterprize, ſince he has lately gained ſo conſiderable an Advantage at Caſſani, concerning which we have the following Particulars:

The Genoeſe Officers Colonel Marchelli and Major Murati took it into their Heads to divide their Troops in three Bodies: They poſted one of them near Algajola, the ſecond at ſome Diſtance from thence, and the third, conſiſting of 900 choice Men, they ſent to ſurprize a Caſtle in the Iſland of Roſa: But no ſooner were they landed, but they took to their Heels at the Appearance of a ſmall Party of the Malecontents; and the greateſt Part of them, being unable to rejoin their Veſſels, were either killed, drowned, or made Priſoners: ſome of them made a Shift to get on board two Gondolas; but they were not more lucky in this than their Companions; for thoſe Veſſels, being over-loaded ſunk to the Bottom. 'Tis reckoned that 400 of the Genoeſe were either killed or drowned in this Action, not to talk of Numbers of them who deſerted. Colonel Marchelli was impriſoned as ſoon as he arrived at Baſtia.

A curious Monument is now finiſh'd by Mr. Rysbrack the famous Statuary, and erected in Weſtminſter-Abbey among the Poets, to the Memory of the late Mr. Gay, Author of the Beggar's Opera, &c. on which is the following Inſcription, viz.

Of Manners gentle, of Affections mild,
In Wit a Man, --- Simplicity, a Child;
With native Humour temp'ring virtuous Rage,
Form'd to delight at once and laſh the Age.
Above Temptation in a low Eſtate,
And uncorrupted, e'en among the Great.
A ſafe Companion, and an eaſy Friend;
Unblam'd thro' Life, lamented in thy End.
Theſe are thy Honours! Not that here thy Buſt
Is mix'd with Heroes, or with Kings thy Duſt:
But that the Worthy and the Good ſhall ſay,
Striking their penſive Boſoms, ----- Here lies GAY.

A. POPE.

Here lie the Aſhes of Mr. JOHN GAY:
The warmeſt Friend,
The gentleſt Companion,
The moſt benevolent Man;
Who maintain'd
Independency
In low Circumſtances of Fortune;
Integrity,
In the midſt of a corrupt Age;
And that equal Serenity of Mind,
Which conſcious Goodneſs alone can give,
Thro' the whole Courſe of his Life.
Favourite of the Muſes,
He was led by them to every elegant Art;
Refin'd in Taſte,
And ſtraught with Graces all his own.
In various Kinds of Poetry
Superior to many,
Inferior to none.
His Works continue to inſpire
What his Example taught:
Contempt of Folly, however adorn'd;
Deteſtation of Vice, however dignify'd;
Reverence for Virtue, however diſgrac'd.

Charles and Catherine, Duke and Dutcheſs of Queensberry, who lov'd this excellent Perſon living, and regret him dead, have caus'd this Monument to be erected to his Memory.
